Chair's Report 2025–2026

My name is Julian Nicholds, and I was the Chair of Clydach Community Council for 2025 to 2026. It has been a privilege to serve as Chair of Clydach Community Council during the 2025–2026 and I look forward to serving you into 2027.

Throughout the year, the Council has remained focused on its core priority: serving the needs of the people of Clydach through effective governance, strong community engagement, and sustainable decision-making.

A key area of focus has been sustainability, both in terms of the Council's finances and our ability to deliver the priorities identified through our democratic processes. We have worked to ensure that the resources, staffing, and financial arrangements are in place to support the effective implementation of Council decisions and to enable the Council to continue serving the community well into the future.

We have also strengthened our focus on forward planning. By taking a proactive approach to delivery and event planning, we are ensuring that the opportunities we provide are sustainable, well organised, and responsive to community needs. This includes the development of a community listening exercise, which will help us better understand the views, aspirations, and priorities of residents and ensure that future decisions continue to reflect the needs of our village.

The Council remains proud of its programme of seasonal, cultural, and community events. Our aim has been to provide activities and engagement opportunities that are inclusive and accessible to all, reflecting the diversity of our community and serving residents of all ages and backgrounds.

Alongside our larger events such as the Remembrance and Christmas Parades, St. David's Day and the summer fête, we have developed a programme of smaller activities throughout the year and that can be delivered consistently and sustainably, providing regular opportunities for residents to engage with their Community Council and with one another. We are especially proud to have established a programme of summer holiday activities for young people and families, ensuring that there are meaningful opportunities for engagement, recreation, and community participation throughout the holiday period.

None of this would be possible without the commitment of our councillors, staff, volunteers, and community partners. Through our committees and democratic processes, we continue to work together to ensure that the needs of the community remain at the centre of everything we do.

I would like to thank everyone who has contributed to the work of the Council during the past year. We remain committed to continuous improvement and to ensuring that Clydach Community Council delivers for the people of Clydach.

About Clydach Community Council

The Council as a Corporate Body

A Community Council is a corporate body with a legal existence of its own which is quite separate from that of its members. Its lawful acts, assets and liabilities are its own and not those of its individual Members. Any decisions taken by the Community Council are the responsibility of the whole body, and it is irrelevant if any particular Member agreed or disagreed with any particular proposal.

Clydach Community Council is the first tier of local government serving the Clydach area. Its role is to represent the interests of residents, manage certain local facilities, and support community wellbeing.

A Community Council can legally raise money through the Precept – a levy which its residents pay through the Council Tax. It also has a range of powers which allows it to spend this public money on the services which it provides. These may include the provision of Playing Fields, Playgrounds, Public Parks, and Community Centres. Parish/Town Councils were established in 1894 by an Act of Parliament and were further reformed into Community Councils by the Local Government Act 1972, when Wales was divided into communities.

The Community Council has a duty to ensure that the rules for the administration of the Council are followed – the Council must appoint a Chair, appoint a Clerk, appoint a Responsible Financial Officer, appoint an independent and competent internal auditor, hold an Annual Meeting of the Council and keep records of all decisions related to Council business.

Council meetings are held once a month on the third Tuesday, except for August when the Council is in recess. The council also hold Open Spaces and Building Management Committee meetings and Events and Projects Committee meetings on the second Tuesday of the month.

The Community Council is an elected tier of local government. There are sixteen Community Councillors elected or co-opted as Members of Council to represent around 5,845 registered voters.

Unlike County Borough Councillors, they receive no direct salary and are only able to accept limited remuneration or expenses.

Clydach Community Council is split into four wards with a total of 16 councillors split between the wards.

Councillors as Individuals

Community Councillors are elected by the electors of the community under Section 16 (2) of the Local Government Act 1972 every 5 years. A Councillor can also be returned by local by-election or co-option. Anyone elected as a councillor cannot act as a councillor until they have signed the formal declaration of acceptance of office. This includes an undertaking to abide by the Code of Conduct that has been adopted by the Council. Members are also required to declare any interests which they have, for example, in any associations or affiliations with groups, bodies or individuals. It is the individual Councillor's duty to declare an interest and leave a meeting if any issue being discussed could be perceived as securing any type of advantage to the Member.

Councillors have a duty to act properly and responsibly in their role as a councillor, both in person and when corresponding through social media or other means, and a responsibility to attend community council meetings when summoned to do so. When summoned to a meeting, Councillors will have been provided with an agenda, minutes, and reports. This allows them to prepare for the meeting and ensure that they are properly informed on the matters to be discussed.

They have a responsibility to act on behalf of the whole electorate, take an interest in all issues equally, and represent the views of the wider community in the discussions.

The Chair

The Chair is elected by the Members at the Council's Annual Meeting and serves for 12 months. The Chair is in a position of authority in presiding at meetings of a community council. With the advice of the Clerk, the Chair is responsible for ensuring that effective and lawful decisions are taken at the meetings of the Council. There are several aspects to being a good Chair including a commitment to the role, a willingness to appreciate the views and experiences of others and the ability to manage meetings in an orderly manner.

It is important that there is mutual respect between the Chair and the Clerk and between the Chair and the other Members. The Chair has a casting vote in the event of a tied vote. No single individual councillor (including the Chair) can decide on behalf of the Council.

The Chair is responsible for involving all councillors in discussion and for ensuring that Members keep to the point. The Chair is often the public face of the Council and, in this respect, will be expected to convey the corporate view and not his/her personal view.

The Clerk

The Clerk is employed by the Council to provide administrative and professional support for the Council's activities. Any other members of staff employed by the Council are responsible to the Clerk who is their line manager.

The Clerk's primary responsibility is to advise the Council on whether its decisions are lawful and to recommend ways in which discussions can be progressed. The Clerk takes their instruction from the Council and not from any individual Councillor. It is the Clerk's duty to implement the decisions taken by the Council, although certain actions can be delegated by the Council, so that the Clerk may act on their behalf.

The Clerk for Clydach Community Council is also the Council's Responsible Financial Officer. The role involves a broad spectrum of work and responsibilities, including financial management, personnel management, administration, estates management, project management, and health and safety.

Whilst it is good practice for the Clerk to consult on the content of an Agenda with the Chair, the Clerk has the final say as the Council's "proper officer" and legal signatory of the agenda. All correspondence for the Council should be addressed to the Clerk.
